

Lab Theater puts new spin on old Christmas stories

fortmyers.floridaweekly.com/articles/lab-theater-puts-new-spin-on-old-christmas-stories/

By Florida Weekly Staff | on December 05, 2018

December 5, 2018

From left: Kayleigh O'Connell, Dave Matthew Chesebro and Heather McLemore Johnson, perform "Every Christmas Story Ever Told (And Then Some)."

Ever wonder what Christmas told in a different way would feel like?

"Every Christmas Story Ever Told (And Then Some)," running through Dec. 22 at The Laboratory Theater of Florida, has actors taking stories and traditions from around the world and turning them upside-down in this show.

FORT MYERS READERS: Sign up for Florida Weekly's Fort Myers email edition here.

The show is fun for the whole family, Lab Theater Artistic Director Annette Trossbach promises. "Three actors playing dozens of roles while changing characters and costumes onstage? It's madness and hilarity, full of belly laughs," she said.

"If you've ever wondered what it would be like to take everything you know about the holidays and flip it on its head, this show is what you'd get," Director Lauren Miller added.

Tickets are available on Brownpapertickets.com or by calling the box office at 218-0481. For more information, visit www.LaboratoryTheaterFlorida.com. |

More From Arts & Entertainment News Go To The Arts & Entertainment News Section

All about the GulfCheeca Lodge in Keys reopens after \$25M renovationThe Manhattan Transfer: Still in the groove after all these years